

Unified Federal Housing Agency Asked by President

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—President Truman today proposed to congress the creation of a completely new housing and home finance agency to handle virtually all government activities in that field.

In a special message, Mr. Truman said such an agency "will unquestionably make for greater efficiency and economy."

His plan would scrap the existing National Housing Agency (NHA) which coordinates present housing functions. It was created under the president's wartime powers and will go out of existence six months after the declared end of the war.

Mr. Truman said the proposed new agency should be a permanent part of government.

"The provision of adequate housing will remain a major national objective throughout the next decade," the message said.

"The primary responsibility for meeting housing needs rests and must continue to rest with private industry, as I have stated on other occasions.

"The federal government, however, has an important role to play in stimulating and facilitating more construction."

White House aides forwarded Mr. Truman's message to congress during his absence in Missouri.

It transmitted to Capitol Hill "Reorganization Plan No. 3," providing for bringing into one agency most of the government's housing activities.

Under a law enacted by the last congress, Mr. Truman has authority to propose such consolidations or reorganizations of the government's bureaus and agencies. Such plans become law automatically unless congress adopts a resolution disapproving them within 60 days after they are submitted.

Congress last year rejected a different Truman proposal which would have established the present, temporary National Housing

Rev. Allan W. Caley To Come Here From Dayton To Take Place Of Minister Raised To Superintendent

In the assignment of ministers made at the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church at Cincinnati Tuesday afternoon, the reports stated that Rev. Allan W. Caley, pastor of one of the leading Methodist Churches of Dayton, had been appointed pastor of Grace Methodist Church, succeeding Rev. George B. Parkin who had been pastor of the church here nine years, and whose return for the 10th year had been sought by the official board.

Rev. Parkin was given the distinct advancement to the superintendency of the Wilmington district of the Methodist Church, succeeding Rev. John Andre who had been district superintendent the past six years.

Other pastoral changes were slow in coming in due to the delayed announcements.

Rev. Caley, 44, comes highly recommended as one of the strongest ministers of the Ohio Conference. He is married and Rev. and Mrs. Caley have two daughters, Janet, 9, and Carol Ann, 11.

He is a graduate of Asbury College, and studied for his bachelor degree at Boston University, receiving the degree of S.T.B.

He also studied at Boston University and Harvard for his master degree, receiving the degree of S.T.M. at Harvard.

He is a member of the board of education and of the board of missions of the Ohio Conference.

The pastoral relations committee is deeply impressed with Rev. Caley and he has excellent recommendations from leading ministers and the committee of Grace Church feels fortunate in obtaining him.

Rev. Caley will conduct the morning services Sunday, June 1.

Glenn H. Woodmansee was the church delegate at Cincinnati the past week, and several other members of the official board went to Cincinnati for part of the sessions, Woodmansee and Ralph Penn driving down late in the week to extend official invitation to Rev. Caley from Grace Church.

The appointment of Rev. Parkin comes as a distinct honor and recognition of his unusual ability in the ministry. Whether Rev. and Mrs. Parkin will move to Wilmington or remain in Washington C. H., has not been announced.

During his pastorate here Rev. and Mrs. Parkin have made a wide circle of friends, who join in wishing them well in Rev. Parkin's new position.

At 2:30 Tuesday afternoon all appointments were not available.

In session last night, the conference adopted a resolution declaring that "we believe a cure to unsatisfactory conditions in the labor unions rests within labor, rather than by anti-labor legislation."

"We deplore the fact," the resolution added, "that a small number of labor unions have been undemocratic, have permitted communists to take control out of proportion to their numbers and have participated in jurisdictional disputes."

In another resolution, Methodist churches were urged to "support the school improvement association of North College Hill (a Cincinnati suburb) in its suit to stay the school board from paying money to the community's

Farmer Pays Fine For Forking Carp

CIRCLEVILLE, May 27—(AP)—Robert Chester, 45-year-old Williamsport farmer, wearied of jail yesterday—so, he paid $51.20 for two carp and went home.

Chester, who developed the theory carp were not fish and were inedible, chose to go to jail May 24 rather than pay the money for spearing the two carp with a pitchfork, in the Scioto River.

Although he still asserted the arrest was an injustice, Chester said he had abandoned plans to appeal the high cost of carp.

Dog Is Awarded Diploma---But Boy Who Was Not Shoots Self

PITTSBURGH, May 27—(AP)—Spot, a woolly black and white dog devoted both to his master and to school in suburban Wall, Pa., was the proud owner of a grammar school diploma today.

But in another section of southwestern Pennsylvania a broken-hearted boy who wanted a diploma more than anything else in the world lay gravely wounded because he wouldn't get one.

Jimmy Franks, 14-year-old eighth grade student, was found lying in the hallway of the Bobtown High School yesterday with a bullet in his chest and a 32-20 pistol clutched in one hand.

Jimmy, son of a coal miner, had to drop out of school last November because his mother was critically ill and he was needed at home to take care of several younger children.

A teacher, Geraldine Donley, said Jimmy, a bright boy, grieved because he wanted to enter high school and continue his education.

The hard blow fell when Jimmy was told his many absences would make it impossible for him to take the entrance examination. Yesterday was the last day of

Memorial Day Plans Made By Veterans Here

City Manager Hill To Be Speaker For Ceremonies

Veterans organizations of three wars, Boy Scouts, Campfire Girls, Red Cross workers and other groups will march together Friday in honor of those who fought in America's wars, under arrangements for the annual Memorial Day parade.

Commander Darrell Williams, of the American Legion, which is organizing the parade, said that any patriotic organizations in the city wishing to march in the parade are welcome to do so. Col. Rell Allen is marshal of the day and has asked that those groups wishing to march notify him before the parade, if possible.

Those already slated to take part are the Legion, the VFW, the DAV, the Campfire Girls, the Boy Scouts, the Red Cross, and Company D of the State Guard.

Columbus Stores Swept By Flames

COLUMBUS, May 27—(AP)—A three-alarm fire gutted three downtown stores and damaged upstairs offices early today in a four-story brick building.

The fire was brought under control at about 3 A. M., less than an hour after it started. A record shop, shoe store and restaurant on the ground floor of the building, located on South High Street near Town Street, were hard hit by the blaze. Damage, it was estimated unofficially, would exceed $100,000, including store stocks.

In addition to the record shop, damage extended to the Modern Youth Shoe Shop, Moskins Credit Clothing Store, the Shapiro Optical Co. and at least eight offices including those of the Ohio Newspaper Association and the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants.

Part of the first floor ceiling in the four-story building collapsed and firemen said they feared other sections might give way.

Secret Selection Of School Head In Cleveland Scored

CLEVELAND, May 27—(AP)—Asserting the Cleveland Board of Education took "illegal" action by appointing a new schools superintendent at a secret session, board member Alfred A. Benesch said today he would demand a new election in an open meeting.

Appointment of Mark C. Schinnerer by a 4-3 vote as new head of Cleveland's public schools, succeeding Charles H. Lake, was announced yesterday, but actually took place at a "star chamber" session Friday, said Benesch.

Lake was given a new post of consultant for a two-year term at a salary of $10,000 annually in the board's appointment.

Contract for Six Vet Homes Here Let by Commissioners

At the Monday session of the Fayette County commissioners a contract was entered into with Walter D. Haines, for constructing six veterans houses at a cost of $2800 each, in accordance with plans submitted by Haines, calling for building 23 by 24 feet, containing two bed rooms, a living room, kitchen, bathroom and hallway.

It was announced that the commissioners also are considering plans to acquire additional land so that each house will have a more adequate yard than at first planned for the tract purchased on Elm Street. Further announcement in this connection is expected in the near future.

The contract entered into with Haines provides for building one house at a cost of $3300 half of the amount to be paid when the house is under roof and the other half when the house is completed.

First of the houses will be built on Broadway where two lots are available for the houses, it was indicated.

If the first house satisfactory to the commissioners, then Haines is to proceed with the construction of the other five houses.

Variety Of Problems Before Legislature

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, May 27—(AP)—The paradox of Gov. Thomas J. Herbert and Congressmen-at-large George Bender advocating opposite action on a bill to regulate Ohio strip mining confronted state representatives today.

Members of Cuyahoga County's delegation to the general assembly said Herbert told them at a gathering in the governor's mansion that he favored enactment of strip mining legislation.

Some of the same Cuyahoga County representatives reported they had been contacted by Bender and asked to vote against the White-Berry-Anglin measure to control coal stripping.

The strip mine proposal was one of several in the "hot potato" category which were up for house action.

Another was a measure to permit Christian Science practitioners to charge for their services. Similar proposals have failed to get through other legislatures but

Sugar Outlook Gets Brighter

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—Household sugar shortage problems are being eased rapidly.

The Agriculture Department came up with this good news for the housewife:

1. Spare stamp No. 12 in ration books may be used for 10 pounds of sugar immediately rather than on June - as previously announced.

2. A new rationing stamp good for 10 pounds will be validated not later than Aug. 1, and.

3. If the sugar picture continues to improve the individual consumer can get more sugar than the 35 pounds previously allotted him for 1947.

The department's action yesterday assures consumers the full 35 pounds of sugar promised under the 1947 sugar control extension act and makes it available by Aug. 1.

Spare stamp No. 53 good for five pounds expired March 31; spare stamp No. 11 is validated for 10 pounds and is good until Oct. 31; spare stamp No. 12 will expire Oct. 31.

The number of the new stamp to be validated was not announced.

Agriculture Department Budget Heads For Showdown In Congress

By WILLIAM A. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—The House Appropriations Committee faced a major test today in its drive to chop $6,000,000,000 from President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for 1948.

Rumblings of discontent among Republicans and Democrats alike increased as the $805,143,576 agriculture department supply bill, cut 32 percent below budget requests, came before the house for debate.

A vote on passage was set for late Wednesday.

Even Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.), who headed the subcommittee which drafted the bill and who will handle it on the floor, told reporters "there may be some troubles."

Dirksen referred to pending amendments to restore some of the funds the committee cut from soil conservation payments, from the school lunch program and from other agriculture department projects.

Dirksen said he will resist all amendments making "any substantial change" in the committee's bill.

Other Republican leaders said privately they expect the bill to give the committee its first major test since it involves so many congressional districts.

Among Republicans who have spoken out against the measure are Chairman Hope (Kas) of the house agriculture committee, Rep. Hull (Wis) and Senator Aiken (Vt.).

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), former chairman of the appropriations committee, accused the Republican leadership of having "kicked in the slats" of western and mid-western Republican farmers who, he said, helped the GOP obtain control of congress in last year's elections.

Farm 'Girl Friend' And Two Sisters And Brother All Shot

IMLAY, Mich., Mich., May 27—(AP)—Slender, 16-year-old Oliver Terpenning, Jr., was arrested near Toledo, O., today and was charged with murder in the flower-patch slayings of four "teen-aged farm neighbors."

Justice Albert Perkins signed a warrant on recommendation of Prosecutor Kenneth Smith of LaPeere County, charging Terpenning with the murder of 16-year-old Barbara Smith, oldest of the four victims and "girl friend" of Terpenning.

Shot through the head as they picked wildflowers from a swampy, bush-grown gravel pit late yesterday were three daughters and a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith whose farm home is nine miles northwest of here.

Barbara, a bouquet of violets clutched in her hand, had three bullet wounds in the head. Her sisters, Gladys, 13 and Janet, 12, and her brother, Stanley, 14, had been shot once, also in the head.

Their bodies were found by another of the 14 children in the Smith family—19-year-old Ella Mae. She left the supper table to look for the four and returned screaming a short time later to report her gruesome discovery.

The slayings so angered the area that a band of irate farmers set out immediately with guns and other weapons in search of the killer.

Terpenning was turned over to Ohio authorities shortly after a motorist gave him a ride as he hitchhiked south toward the Michigan-Ohio line.

Police officials in both states said he admitted shooting the children about 3 P. M. Monday but that he gave no reason for his act.

Killer Of Four To Stay In Jail

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex., May 27—(AP)—Justice of the Peace H. R. Voges said here today that Dr. Lloyd L. Ross of San Antonio, charged with slaying four persons, "will not be released on bond under any circumstances."

The examining trial for Ross has been postponed indefinitely, but Voges arrested: "no matter what the outcome of the examining trial, this man will not be allowed to go free on bail."

COLUMBUS, May 27—(AP)—A forecast for mostly dry weather for the next two days cheered Ohio farmers, glum over the prolonged rains that has kept them from working the land.

Winds of considerable velocity were expected to dry out rain soaked fields and permit farmers to start plowing for corn planting, already weeks behind schedule.

Jeffersonville Planning For Memorial Day

All County Band To Be Feature Of Services

The Gold Star Post of the American Legion, of which Ralph Jenks is commander, has announced plans for Memorial Day exercises in Jeffersonville.

Plans call for forming the parade on Main Street in Jeffersonville so it can move at 1:30 P. M. Friday, and the services at the Fairview Cemetery are to be conducted at 2 P. M., with Winston W. Hill, city manager of Washington C. H., as the speaker.

The all county band will be a feature of the parade and will furnish music at the cemetery. The Navy Drum Corps, of Springfield, also will be a feature of the activities.

The parade will form as follows: Colors and guard, Navy Drum Corps, All County Band, Fairview Cemetery, American Legion, VFW, DAR, Auxiliary Unit, Knights of Pythias, Boy Scouts, of others.

The program at the cemetery will consist of selections by the All County Band, invocation by Rev. Alexander, address by Winston W. Hill, and decorating the graves.

The band will play "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner" as part of the program of music. A salute to the warrior dead will be fired and taps sounded. The public is invited to attend and participate in the activities.

Housing Agency

agency as a permanent unit for the supervision of housing functions.

When NHA dissolves, Mr. Truman's new message told the legislators, "the housing programs of the government will be scattered among some 13 agencies in seven departments and independent establishments."

He continued: "I need hardly point out that such a scattering of their interrelated functions would not only be inefficient and wasteful but also would seriously impair their usefulness."

Therefore, he said, he asked establishment of a permanent agency "at the earliest possible date."

His plans call for three agencies operating in and under the housing and home finance agency, as follows:

1. A home loan bank board of three members, to administer the Federal Savings and Loan Corporation, The Home Owners Loan Corporation and the functions of the Federal Home Loan Bank board.

2. A federal housing administration, with the same functions now held by that agency. One of FHA's major functions is insurance of mortgages on new homes.

3. A public housing administration, to take over functions of the Federal Public Housing Authority and some remaining emergency housing activities.

Top officials of the new housing set-up, Mr. Truman proposed would be an administrator to head the housing and home finance agency, the three members of the home loan bank board, and one commissioner each for the FHA and the Public Housing Administration.

All would be appointed by the president but his selections would have to have senate approval.

The plan would vest in the new administrator considerably more power than as is presently exercised by NHA administrator Raymond M. Foley, who has declared his function to be one of merely coordinating the lesser agencies under his general supervision.

The plan also proposes a national housing council to wrap up a few housing activities which do not fit into the main pattern. All the housing agencies, as well as other departments and bureaus having housing functions, would be represented on the council.

and the $500 paid for the first house above the contract price of $2800 for each house is to be credited on the first payment of the second house, so that each house will cost only $2800 completed, or a total of $16,800, which will be paid out of the $18,575 advanced by the state government for building the houses for veterans.

City Manager W. W. Hill, who was present at the time, told the commissioners that permits for the first two houses on Broadway would be issued upon application.

Permits for building the other four houses on lots purchased on Elm Street had been held up because the amount of ground allocated to each house conflicted with the zoning ordinance, and at a hearing before the city appeals board last week the board urged that more ground be obtained.

This is now under consideration by the commissioners.

Enlistments Open To Disabled Vets

The army has reopened enlistments to partially disabled veterans who wish to join again at their old ranks, setting the deadline for June 30, said Sgt. Richard A. Jones, of the US Army Recruiting office here today.

This new ruling applies to all former enlisted men wounded during World War II who submitted their applications before the deadline, regardless of the length of time they have been out of the Army. After June 30, former enlisted men must apply within 20 days of discharge in order to receive their old rating.

The new plan also provides that enlisted men who joined again between March 31, the old deadline, and the new extension, who therefore did not receive their former ranks will get them immediately.

Re-enlistments for partially disabled veterans were opened last year, when the army asked for 5,000 of these men with special skills. They are required to meet the minimum physical standards for enlistment, except for their specific combat-incurred disability.

A letter from a former Master Sergeant, who lost his left arm in Japan, initiated this Army policy, when he wrote a letter to General Dwight D. Eisenhower, chief of staff, asking for an Army job, stating that he felt capable of handling any number of Army jobs. He was re-enlisted in special ceremonies at the Pentagon Building last November.

Michigan troopers sped across the state line to suburban Toledo and returned Terpenning to Michigan. They questioned him briefly at Erie and then took him by car to state police headquarters in East Lansing.

At the East Lansing center, officers said Terpenning had made a verbal confession to Erie troopers. They said bloodstains marked the khaki clothes he was wearing.

Authorities here said they were drawing up a warrant for Terpenning in connection with the slayings.

Sgt. Seim said Terpenning told of going to Port Huron, Mich., about 36 miles east of here. There he abandoned his father's car and set out hitchhiking. He rode to Detroit in a truck and got a second lift to the vicinity of Erie.

Norman Dombrosky, a passing motorist from Erie, gave the youth a ride and began questioning him when he noted his resemblance to a broadcast description of the wanted youth.

Sgt. Seim said Dombrosky told him that Terpenning admitted he was "wanted for murder" in Michigan.

The driver immediately proceeded to the office of Justice R. O. Stevens in suburban Toledo where he turned the boy over to authorities. He was taken to the Toledo county jail and then back to Erie.

The four Smith children were found dead of bullet wounds in the backs of their head. The boy was about 100 feet away from the girls, officers said, as though shot down while fleeing.

Two physicians examined the girls and said there was no evidence of rape.

Russia Abolishes Death Sentence

Action Expression Of Faith In Peace

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 27—(AP)—Capital punishment has been abolished by the presidium of the supreme Soviet and the move was hailed by Moscow's press today as an indication the Russians are convinced there is no danger of another world war.

The presidium's decree itself said that "the causes of peace can be considered as secured, despite the attempts being made by aggressive elements to provoke war." It added that the application of the death sentence no longer was necessary "in peacetime conditions."

Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, writing in the communist party newspaper Pravda, said "the presidium of the supreme Soviet, in taking the decision banning the death sentence, took into consideration the international situation."

He said there was no universal threat to peace, despite "the provocative speeches of some foolish American senators like Thomas, Russell, Brester and others."

The death penalty has been invoked chiefly in cases of persons convicted of offenses against national security. For the same crimes for which capital punishment has been meted out, offenders henceforth will be given 25 years at hard labor.

The Soviet Union's principal newspapers welcomed the decree, and heavily stressed its international aspects.

Before the war Russia imposed death penalties for murder, highway robbery and sabotaging state property.

(In the United States, life imprisonment rather than execution is the law in Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Wisconsin.)

Campfire Camp Plans Near Finish

With still $400 to collect for the camp fund, the Campfire Girls ironed out the details for their summer camp today as they made a request for out-door toilets to complete their set-up.

Any farm owner who has installed a septic tank, or city resident who has hooked into the sewer and has an outside toilet they would like to donate to the Campfire Girls summer camp, may call Mrs. Tom Bush at 31543. Arrangements will be made for transportation and installation.

The camp, which was donated by Dr. J. H. Persinger, is on Rattlesnake Creek. Ed Cunningham, who has charge of the camp fund, said that an electric light plant will be installed and power lines hooked up throughout the camp. A bottled gas stove will be used.

Army squad tents with wooden floors will be used for the campers. The tents will be equipped with steel folding cots. At present, three of these tents have been ordered and more will possibly be needed when enrollments have been completed. The camp will start June 23.

Announcement will be made later of the supervisors, directors and cooks who will be hired for the season.

Memorial Day

The Washington C. H. High School band will also march.

The parade will form on Market Street between Fayette Street and Hinde Street. Williams has asked that every group which will participate be at this point at 9:45 A. M. so that Col. Allen will be able to assign them their places in the parade. Beginning at 10 A. M., the group will march down Market Street to Hinde Street, then down Hinde Street to Court Street and out Court Street to Washington Avenue, where the parade will proceed to the cemetery.

At the cemetery, ceremonies will be held at the platform, which has been erected near the mausoleum this year. Williams said that if this location for the platform proves satisfactory, interested groups will attempt to have a permanent one constructed there. Col. Allen has also supervised the erection of the flag pole at this spot for the ceremonies.

Winston W. Hill, city manager, will be the speaker for the ceremonies. A firing squad will also fire a tribute to those veterans who died in American wars. The Ladies of the GAR will hold memorial ceremonies at the cenotaph in the cemetery. Arrangements have not yet been completed for the ministers who will have charge of the religious services.

At the close of the ceremonies, the parade will return to the city in formation and disband here. Cars will be furnished for the elderly and disabled who take part in the ceremonies.

Grain Markets

CHICAGO, May 27—(AP)—Wheat and corn responded to unseasonably cool and wet weather in late trading today and the distant deliveries developed a steady to firm tone. The nearby deliveries, however, continued to carry an easy tone.

Commercial interests reversed an earlier move and toward the close were on buying buying side in the wheat and corn pits. Trading was influenced by a report that Holland had purchased 8,000 tons of flour and 340,000 bushels of corn.

There was little demand for oats. Corn bookings were placed at more than 300,000 bushels. Traders had reports that a considerable amount of corn had been sold from this point last Friday, but sales for the day were placed at 145,000 bushels.

At the close wheat was 3/4 to 2 cents higher than the previous close, July $2.35 1/2-3/4. Corn was 1/4 to 3/4 higher, July $1.78-1.79 1/4. Oats were 1/2 lower to 1 cent higher, May 69 1/2-1.

In The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—The boom in farm land prices is worrying President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

They remember the boom, and the bust, in farm land prices after World War I. They don't want a bust after this boom.

Here's a comparison of what's happening now with what happened after the first world war.

World War I started in 1914. The war meant a big demand for food. The price of farm products jumped. So, farm land prices jumped, too.

The war ended in 1918. Food needs still were great. Farm food prices continued up. So, farm land prices continued up.

Between 1914 and 1920 farm food prices went up a little over 100 percent and farm land prices went up 70 percent.

The depression hit. Down went farm food prices. Down, too, farm land prices.

Farm food prices recovered a bit in the mid-1920's. Not so with farm land prices.

Once they started to slide in 1920, they continued sliding into the depression years of the early 1930's. It was rough.

Not only was the 70 percent increase in farm land prices over 1914 wiped out, but prices fell 27 percent below 1914.

About 2,000,000 farmers lost their farms in this crash. They had gone heavily into debt to buy farm land while farm food prices had been good.

The drop in farm food prices meant their farm land was worth far less than they had paid for it. So, unable to pay what they owed on their farms, they lost them.

As this country edged out of the depression, farm land prices picked up a bit in the 1935-39 period.

Even so, by 1939 they still were 15 percent below 1914. In 1939 World War II started.

With the war came another big demand for food. As farm food prices started upward, farm land prices started upward, too.

Since World War II started in 1939, farm food prices have gone up 180 percent.

(They went up only a little more than 100 percent between 1914 and the crash of 1920.)

Since 1939, farm land prices have risen 92 percent. (As noted, they went up only 70 percent between 1914 and 1920.)

A lot of farmers in the 1939-47 period—although not so many as in 1914-20—have gone heavily into debt to buy farm lands.

For many of them a bad crash now would be a repetition of what happened to farmers after World War I.

Worried government officials wish that farmers now, while still prosperous, would pay off their debts instead of buying more land.

At Mr. Truman's request, Secretary Anderson has called a conference here June 9-10.

It will be a meeting of government officials, leaders of farm organizations, bankers, and other groups which lend money to farmers.

The purpose: To ask the money lenders to tighten up a bit on loans that go into buying farm land.

The average price of an acre of farm land now is $51.33. But the range in prices is great:

It runs from less than $5 an acre for poor range land to perhaps $4,000 or more for specialized land like orange groves.

Dad Tells Of War's Horrors As Son Listens For Bugle

By HAL BOYLE

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., —(AP)—The most frightening thing about the prospect of a third world war is the admiration that is being generated over the second world war.

I don't know of a veteran who fought a hundred days in the line whose hair wouldn't turn gray at the thought of his son going through the same untidy business.

Yet to hear him talk now war was the big romantic adventure of his life, the flight from tedium he will never forget.

The Lord help me, I am one of those criminals, too. Every time I look memories with an ex-serviceman, I do the same sorry thing.

With his children and neighborhood kids standing bug-eyed around us, we fight the war over again. We start off by saying how horrible it is, but somehow without meaning to—because we know it isn't really true—we end up by making death glamorous to the small fry.

I know this is true because my Uncle Tony did it to me. He is a man of great common sense who came back after the 1918 armistice with the conviction that war is the dirtiest enterprise that man, heir of the earth, suborns his talents to. Uncle Tony has a heart as deep as the history of Ireland. I really don't think he would hurt any man to make a million dollars.

I know now that Uncle Tony never won the first world war. He was careful at the time to point out that he didn't. But for all his kindness and good will to everyone he came back our family hero, and the story of his war experiences overseas threw a peculiar luster over battle that we children never outgrew.

For Uncle Tony mentioned but did not emphasize the loneliness and fear and hardships of war. Or, if he did, he couldn't transmit these realities to us. He preferred to remember, and did make us feel, the tremendous vitality of war, the thrill of coming safely home alive from long danger, the odd accidents, adventures and friendships born of combat.

Now a new crop of veterans is doing exactly the same thing. No matter how much they may hate war to their bones, when they reminisce about it they make it interesting—and out of the routine.

You can't blame old soldiers for being liars either. The human tendency to make the best of things converts the dirty-legged, pockmarked Arab girl they bought eggs from in Tunisia into the most beautiful girl since the Arabian Nights. It makes them feel better—and their wives jealous—to recall a 48-hour leave to Paris as the gayest daredevil time of their lives, when actually they spent it taking baths, drinking French watered beer, riding up the Eiffel Tower and writing letters home from a Red Cross center.

Or if they did have a dinner rendezvous with a young made-moiselle, she probably showed up with seven hungry relatives, including mama and papa and a refugee cousin from Metz.

I am old enough to know better, but as I go around the country and meet old war comrades I lie with the best of them. I almost convince myself that war was wonderful and fun and I wasn't really scared all the way.

One veteran did tell me he got something out of war that I believe most soldier did—or should have.

"I learned how to live with men and to get along with them," he said.

But we'll all go on—just like Uncle Tony—putting the most pleasant face possible on past catastrophe. Yet our sentimental lies do one thing.

They help make the younger generation realize that there is something greater than themselves—our country—and prepare them for the time when the bugle blows. The bugles have been necessary for too many centuries, but until the world smartens up to a way to hang them up forever old soldiers and their clarion memories have a place and a purpose. I wish the time would come when they didn't.

Words of Value

Winston Churchill, for fifteen years an advocate of a United States of Europe as the first essential step toward world peace, is returning to the attack. "It is not true," he said in a recent London address, "that a united Europe would menace Russia." On the contrary, he believes that the USSR would gain much from a Europe relieved of the threat of war. He asks that France and Britain take the lead in restoring Germany's economy as a first step, lest Europe remain as it is today "a charnel house, a rubble heap, a breeding ground for pestilence and hate."

This latest speech by the former prime minister came just as Life magazine and the New York Times announced their purchase of the five volumes of his war memoirs, totalling about a million words, for a price said to be a million dollars.

Churchill's utterances have been listened to with well-deserved attention for years, even by those who disagree with him. They are always worthy of that attention, for few living men have participated as actively as he in the turbulent world scenes of the last thirty years. At a dollar a word the world will read his colorful biography, and gain much of value therefrom.

"Unless We Work"

Bernard M. Baruch, one of the great elder statesmen of America, recently gave his countrymen some wise advice.

The world, he said, "can get going only if men work," and "if we accept the challenge to preserve civilization, it means greater effort than that exerted during the war." He pointed to the pressing need for maximum production, with no strikes and no layoffs, in the future. And then he said: "Unless we work, we shall see a vast inflation. Unless we work, we shall not be able to maintain our claim to power. That would be the greatest blow we could receive, for it would strip us of our strength to preserve our way of life."

We have sought for an easy way to do things—and we have found that no such way exists. We have wanted every luxury, but we have not wanted to labor to earn it. Our whole philosophy of late has been the suicidal one of asking more and giving less. Capital, labor, agriculture, the consumer—this indictment fits large segments of them all.

No country has ever undergone a great inflation and kept its institutions free. No country has ever turned to government to solve every real or imagined domestic difficulty and escaped from degrading itself into some kind of a totalitarian state. Freedom is not imperishable. It must be earned, and it must be constantly defended.

Mr. Baruch pointed to a choice that cannot long be postponed. We will work and we will assume the clear duties of a free people or we will lose our freedoms in a terrible economic and political upheaval.

High Priced Fruit

"Tain't me!" These are substantially the words of a large fruit importing company in an advertisement placed in many large city newspapers, disclaiming responsibility for the high price of bananas. They are selling bananas, according to their story, for 5½ cents a pound seaboard at southern ports. Freight, handling charges and

Flood in Poland
POZNAN, Poland.—(AP)—Spring rains and a sudden thaw after the severe winter caused floodwaters to sweep over 97 villages in the Poznan governorate. Nearly 2,500 peasants had to be evacuated. Floodwaters covered more than 120,000 acres of farmlands.

1. Just what is a "coup d' etat"?
2. What is "entente cordiale"?

Words of Wisdom
Morality is religion in practice; religion is morality in principle. Woodrow Wilson.

Hints on Etiquette
It is not good manners to invite one person to a party when there is another person present who is not to be included. Many thoughtless persons do this.

Today's Horoscope
You are a loyal and steadfast friend and hold your friendships. You are exacting, like your own way and are very determined in your efforts to get it. Witty, sociable, and interesting conversationalist, you attract others to the home you love. Adverse influences are abroad today in regard to bills, joint finances, taxes, loans, collections. The year's indications are for a mixture of good and not so good events. Monetary benefits and successful endeavors are foreseen, but you should be warned to avoid overstrain and nervous exhaustion. Womenfolk, too, may cause anxiety. Today's child will be interested in chemistry, hygiene, botany and nature, achieving success therein. Health is liable to suffer through overstudy and over-work.

One-Minute Test Answers
1. A stroke of policy in public affairs.
2. Evidence of good will and understanding.

distributors' profits will naturally raise that figure. In the company's opinion the spread is excessive, and the present very high prices are not called for.

Retail dealers are not apt to buy direct from importers. Jobbers come in between. But in the case of bananas as of other goods, somehow, somewhere prices have gone too high.

Militarism

What is wrong with the world today? One thing, and perhaps the most baneful, is militarism. While the world generally is assumed to be at peace, there are reported to be no less than nineteen million men still under arms. This means not only great expense but also great danger. Dorothy Thompson comments, "The world starves while its productive forces are being expended on armaments, and mounting fears lead each power to try to out-do the other in destructive ingenuity."

The military powers insist that they have to maintain their defenses, lest they be caught unprepared, and so destroyed. When and how shall we free ourselves from such fears? It may seem like a simple problem—till it is studied.

The key to the situation seems to be confidence, but who of all the world powers and their people dare trust the others? Yet leaders must trust others, if the civilized world is to be preserved.

Cars and Luxuries

What would American life be without a car for nearly every family? It looks as if the consumer is being priced out of owning a car, partly by car prices, partly by the prices of other necessities.

From 1936 to 1940 somewhat over 3,000,000 cars were sold annually. Only 150,000 of them cost over $1,200 per car. In 1940 only 52,500 cost more than $1,360. Does anyone know a car today whose list price is not considerably above $1,360?

Once upon a time the average family budget set aside 25 percent of income for food. Recently the National Industrial Conference Board announced that in large cities families of moderate incomes must spend 42 percent of their money for food. Clothing prices, according to the same authority, have gone up 58 percent since August 1939.

People have to eat and wear clothes. They do not absolutely have to own cars. But it is going to make a big difference to the United States if car owning becomes a luxury attainable only by the rich.

Inquirers as to why prices are high are sure to be told that it is some one else's fault.

A Letter from Washington

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON—For the Rev. J. Adrien Pfeiffer of the Takoma Lutheran Church here, the Biblical parable "Unto everyone which hath shall be given" has proven true.

Several weeks ago the pastor gave dollar bills to 325 of his parishioners and told them to use them to raise more money. On a recent Sabbath morning they brought this amount back to the church five-fold—more than $1,500.

The Rev. Mr. Pfeiffer says the sum will be used as the nucleus of a building fund of $250,000 with which the church hopes to erect a new building.

In addition to the $1,500 already on hand, the pastor says from $700 to $1,000 more is expected in pledges and other contributions. By the middle of 1948, he says the church hopes to have $100,000.

Mr. Pfeiffer says his congregation was enthusiastic about the plan for raising the money for its new building, which he says will serve as a recreational and cultural as well as a religious center.

Unusual ways of swelling the $325 to $1,500 were used. Mrs. John Souder of Derwood, Md., "coaxed her chickens to lay eggs." She sold the eggs at a market stall she got for herself.

With the egg money she bought turnip greens and with the money from the greens bought a sack of potatoes.

With the potato money she bought flowers. With the flower money she bought a fancy apron. Of course with each sale she made a profit. She finally turned in $10.75 to Pastor Pfeiffer.

The dollar the pastor gave to

Mrs. Vincent Gingerich went up to $77.75. The wife of an attorney, she made tea cookies and sold them to the members of the bar of Montgomery County.

By investing in some cleaning fluid and doing the family's dry cleaning and pressing for a month, Mrs. John Bopple increased her $1 to $18 through savings.

Another member of the congregation made slipcovers for her neighbor's furniture. Ordinarily she might have done the job as a neighborhood gesture and for nothing. This time she charged for her services and gave the money to the church.

The Rev. Mr. Pfeiffer, who hails from Springfield, O., says his idea of using the parable of the pounds was not exactly a new one, that other churches had tried the same thing and with equal success.

Dangers of Self-Medication

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

FEW things are more dangerous than trying to be your own doctor. No one knows as well as you do that no sensible man is going to try to take out his own appendix, but I also know that thousands who consider themselves very sensible people indeed are every day doing things, scarcely less hazardous than trying to be your own doctor, in their attempts at self-medication without at all realizing the dangers involved.

Take for instance the matter of nose drops.

Number of Preparations
For some time we have had a number of these preparations which, when used in the nose, shrink the lining membrane and relieve congestion. Properly used, they are a great boon and most helpful in relieving symptoms due to colds and sinus infections.

But now, unfortunately, many people, having discovered these helpful preparations, are using them without the physician's advice, in the wrong way and at the wrong times.

Too Constant Use
Through too constant use, the original nose drops soon lose their power to give relief. Then our self-doctors purchase stronger preparations. Sooner or later the condition of the nose becomes so bad that the drops are required every two or three hours. Many of these persons feel that, if they stop using the drops, they will be unable to breathe and unable to sleep at night.

This self-treatment and over-treatment of the nose causes rhinitis or nasal inflammation with congestion of the tissues over the bones in the nose, known as the turbinates. The lining membrane of the nose is pale and waterlogged and the discomfort becomes so acute that it drives the patient to the doctor he should have consulted in the first place.

Treating the Condition

In treating this condition the doctor, as a rule, completely stops the use of the nose drops. During the next three or four days the nose will be more stuffed up than usual but after this time the congestion will gradually disappear. Usually after a week, according to Dr. Clifford F. Lake of the Mayo Clinic, the patient is able to breathe quite freely providing there is no deformity within the nose which blocks the air passages. During this period it may be necessary for the patient to have some nerve-quieting drug at bedtime.

Dr. Lake does not favor the use of nose drops except in particular cases and then only when prescribed by the doctor. For example, they may be employed before operations on the nose. They may be used for infants who are nursing, to relieve the symptoms of a cold so that the baby may breathe well enough to take his feeding.

Rather than use the nose drops Dr. Lake favors the employment of cotton moistened with a silver preparation which is placed in the nose by the physician, and left in place for the proper period of time. This tends to stimulate the flow of mucus from the nose and helps increase the drainage in cases of sinus infection and in the final stages of a cold. During the early part of a cold, wet, wet cloths over the face often relieve the congestion and allow the patient to breathe better.

Remember that if nose drops are to be employed, the physician's advice should be followed concerning their use.

WORTH WHILE

It is easy enough to be pleasant When life flows by like a song. But the man worth while is one who will smile

When everything goes dead wrong.

For the test of the heart is trouble.

And it always comes with the years.

And the smile that is worth the praises of earth.

Is the one that shines through tears.

It is easy enough to be prudent When nothing tempts you to stray.

When without or within no voice of sin

Is luring your soul away.

But it's only a negative virtue Until it is tried by fire.

And the life that is worth the honor of earth

Is the one that resists desire.

By the cynic, the sad, the fallen, Who had no strength for the strife.

The world's highway is cluttered today;

They make up the item of life.

But the virtue that conquers passion,

And the sorrow that hides in a smile—

It is these that are worth the knowledge of earth.

For we find them but once in a while.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

PAGE HEARD the note of deep feeling, under the nonsense Rufus spoke; saw it in his eyes and was smitten with qualms for what she was doing. When, reaching the park, he swung into a deserted, gravelled cul-de-sac, overlooking the lake, and stopped the car, she drew as far away from him as the seat permitted. "Wait, Rufus," she said faintly.

"Wait?"

"I mean—Rufus, why do you want me?" He did not answer at once. He took her hand, opened it flat on his palm, looked down at it for a moment. "I haven't known many girls, Page. Oh, I've met a lot, but no one of them ever interested me. I suppose because I'd always had one in my mind, sort of an ideal, and I never saw her until I ran into you, that night of the wedding. It was as if you'd stepped out of my thoughts into flesh and bones."

"But Rufus, ideals are dangerous!"

"Good for measuring sticks, aren't they?"

"You don't know me, really?"

"You don't know me. It's fifty-fifty."

"I may disappoint you. I may not have any of the qualities you think I have—"

"Well, I'm what is known as a peculiar guy! But Page, we're starting with as good chances as are given to any! If we're always honest with each other—"

Honest. The word struck like a knife into Page's heart.

Rufus drew her to him. "You've been darned honest with me 'rom the first, Page. I've seen the fight you've put up with yourself. You're a girl in a million. THE girl! MY girl." The last was a rough whisper, close to her ear. "Now—may I kiss you?"

She turned her face slowly up to his. It was white and frightened. He kissed her eyelids, her brow, then her mouth. A long kiss, with deep tenderness in its passion.

He loosened his hold of her reluctantly. "Now what?" he asked, with a slightly confused laugh. "Remember I've never been engaged before! I suppose the order is that I go to your father and mother and tell them I am planning to marry their daughter!"

"You'd better let me tell them," Page said, hastily.

"Why? What's there to it? What can they do about it?"

"Nothing, or not much. They are not going to like it," she finished, after a little hesitation.

"I'm not of your class, eh?"

Rufus laughed as he said it, but his lips curled slightly. "I suppose if I could tell them that I had family scattered about in prominent places it'd be a different song entirely."

"It might. Rufus, they have their prejudices, just as you have yours! It's simply that they're on the other side. Father thinks you're too radical. He reads your columns on this trial. If—well, if some time you'd say it was your job, that you HAD to write them the way the Post wanted you to—"

Her fingers tightened on his, a little appealingly.

"Which is quite true," Rufus finished, dryly. His eyes narrowed though he smiled down at her. "If it's going to make it easier for you, I'll use discretion when I'm with your father. After all, I can't expect to raid the palace without walking on tiptoe, can I?" He turned the ignition key, started the car. "But keep in mind, my dear, I've some pride of my own and it doesn't take to dust-eating."

"Almost nine, Di," Bill called to Diane, the morning after the evening of his mother's dinner. "But, at that, I am not going to hurry!" He got out of bed, stretched leisurely, thrust his feet into slippers and went into the bathroom.

Diane heard him whistling as he ran the shower. She was startled by his cheerfulness: last night's emotions lay on her like a dead weight.

Bill ate his breakfast with relish, lingered at the table, drinking a third cup of coffee. "How are your accounts, Di? I've time now to go over them with you, if you want me to."

"They're all right. I've quite a safe balance."

He laughed. "Hard little bargain driver, aren't you?"

"Probably I've inherited that from my father!"

"Well, wherever you get it, you're amazing. And I appreciate it, Di. I've seen the jam some fellows get into right at the start, from letting their wives spend every penny they earn. If Dean does take me into the firm it'll mean more salary and what do you say to putting the difference into the savings account?"

Diane said: "I think that would be a good plan."

Leaving, Bill turned at the door. "No work this evening!" He kissed her again. "You've been a darn good sport all these weeks, sweetheart!"

She stood in the window this morning, and watched him go down the street. "I'm amazing, thrifty, I save your money and I am a good sport! Oh, Bill, I want to be more than that!"

Later, shaking soap flakes into the dishpan, watching them froth and bubble, she thought: "Maybe today is the beginning." Now, knowing more about herself, about Bill, knowing there were things she did not know, about both herself and Bill. Her hands caught and held to the edge of the sink.

"But, it's like—like finding your way in the dark!"

Lois called her, in the middle of the morning. "Play today, Di?"

Diane began a flimsy excuse which Lois interrupted. "Di, it isn't what Vicky said the other day, is it? I know that was raw, but that's Vicky! Anyway, she won't be out there. She's gone to Muskoka for the weekend."

"It isn't Vicky. It's simply that it's too hot!"

Diane Jarrell, it's the first time I've heard you say that. We could go into the pool before and after! And if we want to get anywhere in the qualifying we've got to practice—"

"Where's Danny? He'll play with you!"

"Danny, suggested the three of us play—"

"Well, just count me out. Watch your left wrist and you'll arrive."

"Di," wailed Lois, "you sound as if you never were coming out again!"

Diane laughed at this. "Don't be a dope!" Hung up, when Lois finally abandoned her pleading, with a little feeling that it was only the beginning. Within a few days as soon as Thad came back, she would have to tell them she could not go on in their movie.

"What shall we do this evening?" Bill asked at dinner. He had pronounced it a very good dinner. "Everything I like!"

"Yes, everything he liked."

"What do you want to do?"

"Why not have someone in for bridge? I might call Carl Meadows and ask him and his wife to come over."

"Yes, call him."

They came. They were a quiet couple, older than Bill and Diane, by ten years or more. With his arm over Bill's shoulders, Carl said to Diane: "You've reason to be very proud of this young man of yours, Mrs. Arden!"

"Yes, I realize I have," Diane answered.

Mrs. Meadows was outspoken in her admiration of the apartment. "It's so beautifully new! Our house has become dreadfully battered and it's always noisy! We have three big boys, you know, Mrs. Arden. Just lately Butch, he's Carl, Junior, has taken up the cornet. You can imagine what that is like! You and Bill must come over very soon. I've wanted to ask you, but I knew there wasn't a chance till that trial was over. We didn't dare even call!"

"We'd like to come," Diane said. Mrs. Meadows spoke of it again when they were leaving. "Dinner, some evening, I'll call you."

"They're nice people," Bill said with enthusiasm, folding the card-table. "I'm glad they've asked us over. Friendly relations outside the office helps in a firm—"

Diane swung around to him. "You mean—"

"Dear said something today. It wasn't official, but I can feel reasonably sure of it."

"But why didn't you tell me?"

"Nothing to tell until it's signed on the dotted line."

"No, there isn't!"

She went with the tray of empty coffee cups to the kitchen, began to wash the cups, the ash trays.

Bill called to her. "Let the things go, Di! Come along to bed!"

Diane heard the ardor in his voice; she closed the cupboard door, leaned her forehead against it, fighting a strange half-shrinking in her flesh.

Promising German Girl Talks For Lana

Dubbs In Voice In German Version Of "Ziegfeld Girl"

BERLIN—Lana Turner's German "voice" is a serious, green-eyed German blonde youngster of 21 who looks American, talks English with a slight accent and thinks that Germany's salvation lies in a return to religion. Her name is Hildegard Knef and she is considered by the theatre-goers as one of the most promising of Germany's new crop of actresses. She's undoubtedly the busiest.

Realism In Berlin

Just recently this tall actress finished "dubbing in" the Turner role of the synchronized German version of "Ziegfeld Girl." She is now getting set to play in the first German film produced under American control and in the Berlin production of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah Wilderness."

As the female lead in "Murderers Among Us," first new German postwar film produced under Russian auspices last year, Miss Knef portrayed a serious German girl of today. The film stresses realism.

Black Market And Eggs

"It was almost too realistic for me," recalls Miss Knef.

"When we made nightshots for the picture we took them amongst the worst ruins we could find. It was so realistic a soldier approached us one night and asked to buy our camera. He thought we were black marketers."

As the lispng Mabel of "Three Men on the Horse" the actress found herself a hit. The theater was so cold the manager asked the audience to bring coal.

"One anonymous darling kept sending me one egg after each performance. Thank goodness he had it delivered instead of throwing it."

Reward Offered For Dayton Killer

CINCINNATI, May 27—(AP)—A Cincinnati today offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons involved in the slaying of George K. Zerkow, 59-year-old Dayton, O., businessman, who was shot to death early Saturday in front of his Dayton View home.

Louis Chakeris Stathos, who identified himself as "a dear friend" of the slain bowling establishment and restaurant owner, said he made the offer, to be effect for a two-week period ending June 7, in a letter to the Dayton police department.

Ohio Teacher Pay Is Up Only $171

COLUMBUS, May 27—(AP)—An Ohio Education Association survey shows rural elementary teachers of the state now have an average salary of $1,637 and one-fourth of them get less than $1,454 a year.

In a statement yesterday, Walton B. Bliss, executive secretary, said the statewide average for all teachers is now $2,181 compared with $2,010 during the 1945-46 school year. The increase in the average was due largely to passage of local school levies, he declared, adding that some school boards operated "in the red" to retain qualified teachers.

Bliss declared the senate-passed version of the Daniels-Cramer school aid bill was "barely adequate" in solving the teacher salary problem. Recent slashes in the bill's provisions by the house education committee, he asserted, are "unjustified reductions which represent false economy."

Battleship 'Old Imperishable' On Way to More A-Bomb Tests

HONOLULU, May 27—(AP)—The battleship Nevada, only capital ship to get under way during the disastrous surprise attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, will be coming into that same harbor again about June 10, towed by two tugs at the end of 1,000 yards of cable.

Nicknamed "Old Imperishable" after her experience in the European war theater, the Nevada was the bullseye ship of the B-10 atom bomb target fleet last summer. She survived both aerial and sub-surface bombings, and began her 2,000-mile trip back from Kawaiaele to Pearl Harbor on May 21.

The navy wants to conduct more research into the bombs' mostly deadly byproduct—radio-activity—and will study the Nevada for methods of decontamination.

Among other target ships still at Kawaiaele, the navy is particularly interested in the transports Biscow, Bruile, Dawson, Fallon, the destroyers Mugford, Stack and Rhine and the concrete barge Yog 83.

The submarine Skate and Skipjack are undergoing study at Mare Island, Calif., while the transports Crittenden and Gasconade are being tested at the navy's radiation laboratory at Hunters Point, Calif. The carrier Independence also will be studied in California.

Among other target ships, the cruisers Pensacola and Salt Lake City and the destroyer Hughes are assigned to Bremerton, Wash.

Safety standards for personnel working on all these target ships are higher than those for X-ray work and are rigidly enforced.

Swiss Workers Yodel As They Do Embroidery

Everything but Alps In Settlement Not Far From New York

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
UNION CITY, N. J.—There aren't any Alps, but there's a little piece of Switzerland right across the Hudson River, in the long shadow of New York's skyscrapers.
Almost a century ago, a group of homesick Swiss moved from Manhattan, built their homes and set up their hand-operated embroidery machines on the first floor of their houses.
But it wasn't until Pearl Harbor that the American descendants of these original colonists discovered that what had seemed to them a string of small, independent enterprises actually added up to Big Business.

The United States government brought all the embroidery men together and dumped $60 million worth of war contracts into the hands of about 425 surprised men. At that moment the "schiffi" industry was born, because the men discovered that they had been producing independently about 90 percent of the nation's embroidery.

During the war years, their unbelievably intricate embroidery machines turned out miles and miles of gaudy shoulder patches, chevrons and stripes for the army and navy.
Today the industry has reconverted to peace and to equal mileage in embroidered handkerchiefs, dress and household materials which need an expert eye to detect from handwork.

But in spite of their new-found place in the industrial sun, the embroidery men of northern Hudson County continue to combine modern methods of mass production with a typically European craft approach to their business. Most shops remain family enterprises, with mother, father, the kids and the in-laws all working around the marvelous machines—which for the most part are still operating on the first floor of their dwellings.

Edelweiss is a familiar and everpresent symbol and so is the white cross and red background of the Swiss flag. On holidays, the youngsters and oldsters dress up in native costume. Beer is the popular drink. The three languages of Switzerland are spoken with the same fluency as English.

But the inanimate hero of the industry saga is the imported schiffi-type machine. The word is Swiss patois and means "little boat," which is what the important shuttle of the machine resembles. It was the use of the shuttle that changed machine embroidery from a crude facsimile of hand-work into a finished, smooth pattern.

To oversimplify the whole thing, schiffi machines are a series of connected sewing machines, tipped on their sides, with the needles controlled by a master machine. Thus it is possible to embroider 1,026 similar designs on a single machine carrying that number of needles.

Taylor Criticized In Russian Paper

MOSCOW, May 27—(AP)—American film star Robert Taylor was taken to task in Izvestia yesterday because, a writer in the government paper said, he had revealed a lack of political "morality" in his recent testimony to a U. S. congressional committee investigating Communism in Hollywood.

The attack was authored by A. M. Gerasimov, a Stalin movie prize winner in 1943, who said that Taylor by his own testimony had played the lead in the movie "Song of Russia" during the war against his own wishes and under the duress of American officials.

Senator Bricker's application was filed in the name of Capitol Radio Inc. The other request came from Heart of Ohio, Inc.

Cops Hear More Truth Than Oratory at Meeting

BELLEVILLE, Ill., (P)—Attorney R. E. Costello remarked in an address before an assemblage of members of the St. Clair County Peace Officers Association: "A meeting such as this ought to give the crooks a break and in turn, give the lawyers a break."

While he was speaking a thief stole Police Magistrate Elmer McCarron's automobile parked in front of the hotel meeting place.

Stone By Stone Chaplain Padre Builds Church

Priest Survives
Bataan, Returns to Finished Mission

MESCALERO, N. M.—Above the Mescalero valley of southern New Mexico towers St. Joseph's Mission—an imposing structure that prompts inquiry why this Apache Indian agency headquarters has such a large cathedral.

The answer is Father Albert W. Braun who built it stone by stone, beam by beam in about 20 years.

Franciscan padre and Army chaplain to two generations of World War soldiers, Father Albert began the mission as a memorial to the soldier dead.

The design was by W. C. Stanton, Philadelphia architect and friend. Occasional volunteers aided Father Albert. Antonio Maria Leyva, aging stone mason, worked on it the last 16 years of his life. But mostly it was the padre who quarried the stone, hewed the timbers and built the church. The completed superstructure was dedicated in 1939 by Bishop A. Schuler of El Paso, Tex.

The windows were boarded, waiting for unsolicited funds to provide glass when the imminence of World War II called Father Albert to the colors again. He was one of the 1,600 men from New Mexico who were with the 200th Coast Artillery in the Philippines when war came. He survived Bataan and a long imprisonment by the Japanese, and returned to find friends had subscribed funds for the stained glass windows.

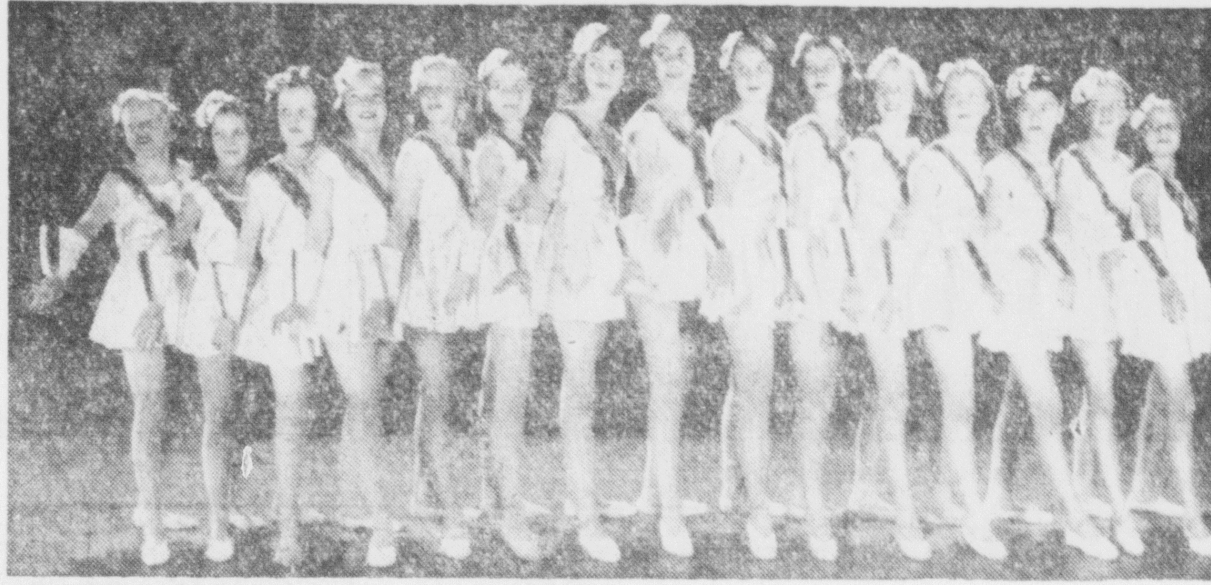

Juice of Potato To Ease Malady

CHICAGO, May 27—(AP)—Discovery that a substance present in potato juice can increase life expectancy in acute leukemia was announced yesterday to the Federation of American Societies for experimental biology.

Dr. Raphael Isaacs, of Chicago's Michael Reese Hospital, said that while the disease normally is fatal in about six weeks on the average, a group of 11 patients who were given crude potato juice lived an average of 10 months, and one of them 17 months.

The active substance in the juice is a chemical called 'tyrosinase.'

In Dance Revue Here Wednesday Night

These girls will appear as the "guard" in Barbara Allen's dance revue, "Stolen Jewels" which will be given at 8:30 P. M. Wednesday in the high school auditorium here. The show, in which Linda Perrill has the leading role, will feature ballet, tap, toe, acrobatic and interpretative dancing. The costumes were designed and executed by the mothers.

Ex-Convicts Held Following Holdup

CANTON, May 27—(AP)—Two Youngstown ex-convicts today faced armed robbery charges after being captured by police yesterday in a wild gun battle which ended when their get-way automobile stalled on Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks.

Police also searched for a third gunman, who escaped down an alley with $400 in loot after exchanging gunfire with two police squads.

Robert A. Ignath, 24, and Henry A. Lipinski, 23, former inmates of the Minnesota State reformatory were charged with armed robbery after their attempt to rob clubrooms of the local maintenance union of $1,000 was partially foiled by a quick-thinking patron, who stepped out a side door and prompted police action.

Formula for Peace By Auto Magnate

CLEVELAND, May 27—(AP)—The most important contribution America can make "to help get the world back to constructive work, economic progress and political peace," according to James D. Mooney, president of Willys-Overland Motors, "is to increase production, reduce the federal debt, reduce tax rates and establish a free gold market."

In an address prepared for delivery at an automobile day luncheon of the mid-America exposition here today Mooney asserted:

"All this talk and pressure to reduce prices is useless. We can't have 1941 prices with the 1947 dollar."

Farmers Face Unusual Strain In Crop Work

Simon Legree as a task master would be a welcome relief from the self-imposed strain Ohio farmers will be under to get their work caught up in 1947; but Professor C. J. Willard, agronomy department, Ohio State University, reminds them that hay crops which stand too long before cutting will lose a lot of good feed.

Weather conditions are so abnormal that a calendar means very little out in the fields, and Professor Willard says the day for starting the mower should be decided by the maturity of the hay crop. Medium red clover produces the best feed if cutting is started at the half bloom stage and is completed before full bloom.

Alsike clover is likely to lodge if left too long so it should be cut at the same time as medium clover. Mammoth red clover blooms from 10 to 14 days later than medium red but it, also, should be cut between its half and full bloom stages.

Greater tonnage per acre can be obtained from timothy by cutting just after completion of blooming, but that delay will reduce the total protein in the hay by 15 to 20 per cent. Farmers can choose whether they want to trade pounds of protein in the timothy for extra pounds of roughage in the hay mow.

Alfalfa cutting should be started well before the half bloom stage and should be finished before full bloom. Best results in Ohio alfalfa production have been seen cured when three cuttings have been made per year. Ohio alfalfa frequently does not bloom fully.

The best time for cutting mixed hay depends upon the percentage of clover or alfalfa in the mixture. When there is one-third or more clover or alfalfa in the mixture, cutting should start when the clover or alfalfa is ready. The mower can start later if little clover is present.

Wisdom Gets Wise To Montana Elks

WISDOM, Mont., (AP)—Ranchers complained that elk, driven from the mountains by heavy snow, were cutting into cattle food supplies. So sportsmen from the towns of Wisdom and Wise River helped the ranchers fence their haystacks, then organized a "shoo" patrol to operate systematically by horse and automobile along a 20-mile stretch of the Big Hole valley.

End of Censorship Seen As Possible

LAKE SUCCESS, May 27—(AP)—United Nations consideration of a proposal to eliminate worldwide peacetime censorship of news was assured today.

Despite Russian opposition, U. N. subcommittee decided by a vote of 9 to 1 that this subject should be considered at next year's international conference on freedom of information.

The subcommittee also adopted a proposal that the world conference should consider measures to protect accredited correspondents against arbitrary expulsion from foreign countries.

Higbe Wins First Game As Pirate When Reds Trounced 5-1 At Night

By JOE REICHLER
(By The Associated Press)

Skeptics who have counted the St. Louis Cardinals out of the National League pennant race apparently did not reckon with Harry (The Cat) Brecheen.

'Tis true the world champions are still in the cellar today six games behind the first place New York Giants, but the revived Redbirds, from Manager Eddie Dyer down, feel confident that the club will claw its way up there pretty soon, especially if the Cat continues to display his early season cunning.

He has won five of his first seven starts, allowed only 13 runs and 47 hits in 62 innings and finished every game he started.

His latest victory, a 3-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs last night in St. Louis was the fourth win in the last five starts for the up and coming cards.

Brecheen allowed only five hits and lost his shut out in the ninth when a walk to Phil Cavarretta, a pinch single by Clyde McCullough and a fly by Don Johnson produced a cub run.

MEMORIAL DAY
To each it has a meaning all its own,
Connected with the past, with someone gone;
The day we honor them with flags and flowers—
Our soldiers, loved ones, friends who have passed on.

Sweet music softly floats upon the breeze,
The tread of marching feet sounds on the air;
A long procession slowly wends its way;
To "City of the Dead" to honor soldiers there.

Memorial Day—long may we honor it
And soldiers of the many wars now past;
We pray no more wars be added to the list—
That universal peace will close and last.

Telephone Workers Union is Planned

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P)—The CIO today set up a committee to open a full fledged drive to enroll telephone workers and establish a new industrial union in the telephone industry.

CIO President Philip Murray directed Allan S. Haywood, chairman of the committee, to call a two-day conference May 31 to set up machinery for the proposed new organization. He added in statement that "opportunity for affiliation" will be extended to other telephone workers who do not take part in the meeting.

Life Hot for Fire Buff In Chicago Restaurant

CHICAGO—(P)—Sam Hollander runs a lunchroom, but his favorite pastime is eating smoke.

When the announcement of a big blaze comes over the air from the police broadcasting station, Sam grabs an ax, helmet, boots, rubber coat, special fire department pass and bolts out.

"I'm a fire buff," he explains. "In addition to the radio in the lunchroom, I keep five at home. One in my bedroom stays on all night. I have trained myself to hear calls in my sleep."

Besides helping the professional flame fighters, Hollander takes movies of the fires, and later shows them to the firemen at their stations.

Indianapolis Race Qualifying Slow

INDIANAPOLIS, May 27.—(P)—Men and machines were available in quantity today for the 31st annual running of the 500-mile Memorial Day automobile race at Indianapolis motor speedway, but only 15 cars had passed qualifications for the 33 places in the starting lineup.

Forty-two cars were in the garages, at least five more were coming, and the speedway slipped in an added qualification period this afternoon. Tomorrow is scheduled as the last day for time trials.

Fourteen cars took warmup spins yesterday, but mechanics and drivers were dissatisfied with a stiff wind and motor performances. Only three made the 10-mile qualification runs.

The fastest of the three, which filled the fifth of the 11 three-car starting rows, was the first ASPAR car to qualify since the speedway settled a prize-money dispute with the American Society of Professional Automobile racers. It was one of the durable old Offenhauser fours, owned by Ed Walsh of St. Louis, and veteran George Connor of Los Angeles took it around at 125.874 miles per hour.

Other qualifiers yesterday were Walt Brown, Massapequa, N. Y., dirt track driver making his first Indianapolis start, and Frank Wearne of Pasadena, Calif., who has finished in the "500" money five times.

Brown qualified at 118.355 miles per hour in the Milt Marion Alfa Romeo from Hempstead, N. Y. Louis Durant finished sixth in the Italian built car last year.

Wearne, eighth last year, was timed at 117.716 miles per hour in a four-cylinder Offenhauser owned by Louis Rassey of Detroit.

Best From Europe Fight In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 27.—(P)—Chicago's Golden Gloves champions bid for a sixth title against Europe's best before a capacity crowd of 20,000 in Chicago stadium tomorrow night in the resumption of international amateur boxing competition after a six-year war-enforced lapse.

Chicago teams collected their winning-edge in nine international shows sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., prior to 1940, when the competition was discontinued by the war.

The opposing team tomorrow night is an all-European group selected in elimination tournaments in Great Britain and on the continent and qualified for team berths in a championship tournament in Dublin, Erie.

Mosley Signs Up For Pro Football

ATHENS, Ga., May 27.—(P)—Reid Mosley 22-year-old speedy end from Huntsville, Ala., today became the fifth player from University of Georgia's undefeated football team of 1946 to sign a professional contract.

Mosley, a senior who played with Georgia's oil and sugar bowl champions, announced that he had accepted an offer from owner-coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears, National professional league, for the 1947 season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, May 27.—(P)—George Eastman, the up-and-coming track coach at Manhattan College, is toying with the idea of cooking up an annual track meet between New York's Big Three—Manhattan, N. Y. U. and Fordham—and California's top trio, U. of California, Southern Cal. and Stanford. George apparently has been reading about those huge crowds at west coast meets, . . . the situation isn't quite the same. The weather is favorable in California, the season is long and track is a "big" sport there, . . . but as a Bushnell's Princeton invitation meets proved that foot racing draw crowds in the east, too.

LOCAL PRIDE
The University of Colorado is scheduled to become a member of the Big Six conference December 1, 1947. But Colorado fans insist they'll be competing for the Big Six football title next fall and one buff follower says they may be shooting for titles both in their new conference and the old Big Seven. . . then, just to be honest, he concedes: "Likely it will be neither, judging from the way Jim Yeager's material looks right now."

OBSERVATION POST
Larry McPhail apparently understands baseball language. . . Larry says he fined those players to "lay down the law in a way they'd understand." . . . and you see what the Yanks have done since then.

Escaped Prisoners

The house also was confronted with senate refusal to concur in an amendment to the veterans' bill.

The youths forced Robinson at the point of a knife to signal the gatekeeper to let the truck out on what the gatekeeper thought was a work errand.

Arthur L. Glatke, superintendent of the prison, reported that Robinson appeared not to have been harmed. The prisoners overpowered the guard-instructor in the tin shop and forced him into the large prison truck.

The break occurred as a grand jury was making an inspection of the institution.

Reformatory authorities said the prisoners previously had been working outside and their release did not immediately excite suspicion.

The escapees were listed as: James A. Westlake, 19, Newark, sentenced from there in September, 1944, to one to five years for armed robbery.

Galen Briscoe, 20, Hamilton, sentenced there May 28, 1945, to one to 15 years for burglary and larceny.

Paul Vukovich, 18, Dayton, sentenced in Lucas County Sept. 27, 1946, to one to seven years for grand larceny.

Edward Fischer, 20, Jersey City, N. J., sentenced in Hamilton County, March 21, 1947, to one to 20 years for auto theft.

John Conte, 22, received from Cuyahoga County Nov. 22, 1946, to serve 10 to 25 years for robbery.

William Lucas, 17, received March 29, 1947, from Hamilton County to serve one to four years as a juvenile delinquent.

The reformatory sent officers in a truck to Grand Rapids to return guard Robinson.

The guard said the fugitives left him tied up in the truck at 4 A. M.

As the state highway patrol and sheriffs of northern Ohio searched for the six, who fled yesterday and to afternoon, the flight led reformatory officials to tighten regulations.

Superintendent Glatke announced that hereafter no prisoners would be permitted to drive a motor vehicle from the institution grounds.

In the future, he said, trucks on reformatory business will be driven by guards. If they are accompanied by prisoners, the prisoners must leave the vehicle and be checked while the car is driven outside the main gate. If the prisoners are to be on legitimate business, they will be permitted to reenter the truck after it leaves the grounds.

4-H Advisers, Officers Get Instruction

Special Classes Held For Over 100 In Memorial Hall

Nearly 100 4-H club officers and advisers were given instruction in their work at a special session Monday night in Memorial Hall with instructors from several counties conducting individual meetings.

Miss Eva Kinsey, assistant 4-H club leader at Ohio State University, led a discussion of methods to the advisers. Miss Kinsey pointed out several things which advisers could use in their club meetings. The first thing in meetings she said should be business and a program. The work at meetings, she said, should include such things as demonstrations, judging work on record books, discussions, trips pictures and samples and acting out points to be stressed. Her final point emphasized the importance of play at club meetings.

The presidents and vice-presidents met with W. W. Montgomery county agent, who discussed conducting a meeting with these officers. Some of the points he stressed were working with others, introducing a speaker, definitions of terms used in parliamentary procedure, general rules of order and keeping an activities calendar.

Miss Beatrice Cleveland, Madison County home demonstration agent, met with the club secretaries. This group reviewed the duties of a 4-H secretary as outlined in the secretary's book.

The news reporters were given instructions by Miss Margaret Watson, Fayette County home demonstration agent. These boys and girls were given pointers on writing newspaper reports. Miss Watson emphasized the importance of omitting personal opinion and getting stories to the paper when they are fresh.

Recreation leaders of 4-H clubs were given instructions by Miss Mary Ellen Miller, Highland County home demonstration agent. She used the main floor of the hall to demonstrate the teaching of games to groups.

John T. Mount, assistant 4-H club leader from OSU, gave a talk on "Why the 4-H Club Works." Mount said that he was impressed with the fine standard of club work in this county.

Following the talk, a 4-H film "Tomorrow's Leaders" was shown by Barton Montgomery. Recreation and games preceded the group meetings. The grand march was led by Ruth Engle and Barton Montgomery.

Kuhn Taken To Penitentiary To Begin Term

Application For A New Trial Denied By Court

Harry Kuhn, found guilty of robbing the Moose Lodge here of between $300 and $400 on March 2, was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary for one to seven years, and Tuesday afternoon Sheriff Orland Hays took Kuhn to the big prison to begin his term.

Following the jury trial in which Kuhn was found guilty, his attorney W. S. Paxson, filed a motion for a new trial, and hearing of arguments on the motion took place Monday afternoon.

Judge H. M. Rankin overruled the motion, turned down a plea for placing Kuhn on probation, and pronounced sentence.

When asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, Kuhn, strongly insisted that he was not guilty of the crime, and wanted to argue with the court.

Kuhn was arrested weeks after the theft, following a trip made by Kuhn and his wife to Texas, and it was learned they had started to California but had a disagreement in Texas and returned to Ohio.

Sheriff Orland Hays had officers on the lookout for Kuhn, and the man was soon under arrest, was indicted by the grand jury, and subsequently tried and found guilty.

He had been out on bond, and a few days ago was picked up in an unconscious condition at Mrs. Charles Wright home, on the Flakes Ford Road, and lodged in jail by Sheriff Orland Hays. Kuhn was unconscious for some 18 hours. Sheriff Hays said. A charge of disorderly conduct was lodged against him as result of this affair.

publican president's appearance at a closed door session, committee members told reporters they want the answers to many questions before they approve spending any more American money abroad.

The former president has said that unless the full $725,000,000 war department request is approved, "millions of people under our flags" will die of starvation. The amount needed, he said, is about the same that was provided for the current year "and this year's experience demonstrates how near starvation is in these countries."

Nationwide Hunt Is On For Oldest Chevrolet Truck

Brand New Model To Be Presented To Owner By Company

Owners of early-model Chevrolet trucks in Fayette County were invited today by Ray Brandenburg to participate in a nationwide search by the Chevrolet Motor Division to locate the oldest Chevrolet truck still in active service in the United States.

"The owner of the oldest truck will be presented with a brand-new advance-design Chevrolet truck and may choose any standard model in the current line of Chevrolet commercial cars and trucks," Brandenburg said.

Trucks entered in the search must be driven to a Chevrolet dealer, where official entry blanks are available. The search ends June 15, and the winner will be notified on or before June 20.

"We have a large number of old Chevrolet trucks still in everyday service in this trading area," Brandenburg said, "and the winning vehicle may be on a farm or engaged in some other hauling work right in our own community."

The winning truck, Brandenburg said, must carry 1947 license plates. The oldest Chevrolet truck will be determined by the earliest serial numbers. In cases where the serial number is lost or illegible, the number may be established by an original bill of sale or other legal documents showing the original serial number.

Entries must be filed with a Chevrolet dealer by midnight June 15, Brandenburg emphasized. Only vehicles manufactured as trucks by Chevrolet are eligible, and the search is open to all truck owners with the exception of employees of the Chevrolet Motor Division, dealers in cars and trucks and their employees.

Brandenburg Motor Sales is offering in addition a new 6.50x20 tire to the oldest truck in this area, licensed in 1947.

June 20 Deadline For Tax Payment

With the deadline for payment of real estate taxes set by legislation as June 20, Fayette County taxpayers have only $93,475.97 yet to pay out of a total amount of $204,806.03 due on the June tax collection, according to figures made known by County Treasurer Charles Fabb. The June collection started on May 5.

There was a time when state law permitted a delay in payment of June realty taxes until as late as September, but in 1943 the
